GIVES VIEWS OF TRUE NEUTRALITY

President Wilson Touches on Present Problems.

OPPORTUNITY IS ADVANCING

As the Only Great Nation Not Engaged in the Great War or Suffering Under Its Immediate Influence a Great Distinction Awaits the United States When the Hour of Readjustment Comes.

New York, April 21.—President Wilson gave a definite and clear statement of the neutrality which is guiding this administration during the war in Europe.

The influence of the newspaper in moulding public opinion, Mr. Wilson said, prompted him to make clear his ideas of true neutrality and in doing so to impress upon his hearers the importance of adhering strictly to truthfulness and honesty in the dissemination of the news.

As the only great nation not engaged in the war or suffering under the immediate influence of the war zone Mr. Wilson declared a great distinction awaits the United States when the hour of readjustment comes, provided this nation proves to the world its self-control and self-mastery. The past has been difficult, he pointed out, but the future will be more difficult.

America, the president said, never will attempt to sit in judgment upon another nation. No nation is fit to do that, he added. But America, free from hampering ambitions at a world power, free of a lust for territory, calm, cool and without self-interest, must be appealed to to assist in the reconstructing processes of peace.

The neutrality of the United States, Mr. Wilson said, has a higher basis than a petty desire to keep out of trouble.

"There is something so much greater to do than fight," he said, "Let us think of America before we think of Europe, that America may be fit to be Europe's friend when the duty of tested friendship comes.

Ready to Aid Both Sides.

"The test of friendship is not sympathy with one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over.

"The basis of neutrality is not indifference; it is not self-interest," he said. "The basis of neutrality is sympathy for mankind. It is fairness, it is good will at bottom. It is impartiality of spirit and of judgment. I wish that all of our fellow citizens could realize that.

"There is in some quarters a disposition to create distempers in this body politic. Men are even uttering slanders against the United States, as if to excite her. Men are saying that if we should go to war upon either side there will be a divided America—an abominable libel of ignorance.

"We are the mediating nation of the world. I do not mean that we undertake not to mind out own business and to mediate where other people are quarreling. I mean the word in a broader sense. The opinion of America, the action of America, is ready to turn and free to turn in any direction.

"My interest in the neutrality of the United States is not the petty desire to keep out of trouble. I have never looked for it, but I have always found it: I do not want to walk around trouble. If any man wants a scrap, that is an interesting scrap, and worth while, I am his man."

Drys Gain in Illinois.

Chicago, April 21.—The dry forces gained further victories in Illinois at the polls. Eight wet towns and villages voted dry and very little territory previously dry voted wet.

COURT CALLS FOR PRINTING CONTRACTS.

Syracuse, April 21.—Justice Andrews, upon the petition of counsel for Colonel Roosevelt, signed an order requiring Eugene M. Travis, state comptroller, to produce forthwith contracts for state printing from 1909 to 1914, inclusive.

Colonel Roosevelt claims in his answer to the complaint that "upon information and belief" certain printing concerns have paid the Albany Journal, Mr. Barnes' newspaper, a percentage of money received for executing printing contracts and on one occasion double payment was made for a printing job, in which the plaintiff was more or less interested."

DRYS GAIN GROUND IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Fifteen Towns Decide to Vote Out Saloons.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 21.—The biggest victory in years has been won in South Dakota this year by the Anti-Saloon league, fifteen towns going over from the wet to the dry column, with only one loss, Salem.

The biggest fight in local history is being waged here, where the vote is declared a tie, the wet and dry forces each receiving 1,335 cotes out of 2,748 cast. Seventy-eight ballots were either blank, erroneously marked or thrown out because of failure of the judges to stamp ballots coming in by registered special delivery mail.

Among other towns gained for prohibitionists this year are: Mitchell, Madison, Rapid City, Custer, Platte, Farmer and Millbank.

Bond issues carried in majority of cities where propositions were up.

Madison went dry by a majority of 160. It was carried by the wets last year by 5. Leola changed to dry by 7 majority. Millbank, the seat of the hot campaign, changed to dry by a majority of 30. Sisseton, the originator of the municipal saloon idea, went dry again this year by 3 votes. Faulkton goes dry again for the fourth time, majority this year but 1 vote.

Yankton stays wet by a majority of 210. Last year's majority wet was 387.

The following towns went dry again: Wilmont, 15 majority; Gettysburg, 15; Howard, 57; Highmore, 53.

The towns remaining wet are: Sioux Falls, 500 majority; Watertown, 330; Selby, 16; Castlewood, 40; Pierre, 9; Fort Pierre, 22; Webster, 151; Roscoe, 9; Huron, 160.

MEXICANS SHOOT AT AMERICAN BIPLANE

Seventy Shots Fired Upon Aircraft by Carranza Soldiers.

Brownsville, Tex., April 21.—A United states army biplane, flying over Fort Brown, near here, was fired upon by Carranza soldiers in Matamoros. About twenty rifle shots and fifty shots from a machine gun on the Mexican side, it is believed in army circles here, were fired at the aircraft. The machine landed safely.

The biplane was piloted by Lieutenant B. Q. Jones, with Lieutenant T. D. Milling as observer. Both were unaware of the incident until they landed. The biplane was not struck, but one bullet hit the army wireless station at Fort Brown and another was picked up near the city hall in this city. All the shots were fired over American territory.

Jose Z. Garza, Carranza consul in Brownsville, made a personal investigation and reported to American army officers the firing was the work of a few Carranza soldiers under command of an intoxicated sublieutenant.

TELLS OF TURKISH DEFEAT

Marquis of Crewe Announces Foe Lost 2,500.

London, April 21.—The Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for India, announced in the house of lords that the Turkish casualties in the recent fighting with the British in Mesopotamia were not less than 2,500.

According to a report issued by the India office last Wednesday the Turkish force, consisting of some 23,000 Turks, Kurds and Arabs, attacked the British positions at Kurna, Apwaz and Shaiba on March 12, but were driven off. The British casualties were given as ninety-two men wounded.

The marquis said the Turks proved to be thoroughly trained fighters and that they concealed their trenches so well that they were invisible at forty yards.

Berlin, April 21.—The Tageblatt's correspondent at Insterburg, East Prussia, says a Russian aviator dropped four bombs on that town. A woman was killed and two children were injured. The material damage was slight.

AUSTRIA GUARDS AGAINST ITALY

Dual Monarchy Gathering Soldiers on Frontier.

MANY GUNS IN READINESS

Strong Fortifications Have Been Erected Along the Whole Line of the Isonzo River and Other Military Precautions Are Being Taken to Prevent Invasion.

Rome, April 21.—Reports received here from Austria say that the dual monarchy hurriedly is gathering troops on the Italian frontier to face a possible invasion by Italian soldiers.

A large contingent of Austrian troops, the reports say, have been quartered at Monfalcone, Ronchi and Sagrado. The Austrians also are said to have strongly fortified the whole line of the Isonzo river with entrenchments, behind which batteries already are in position.

BRITAIN AGAIN PROTESTS

Objects to German Treatment of Captive Officers.

London, April 21.—Through Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, the British foreign office sent a protest to Washington to be forwarded to Berlin, announcing the retaliatory steps Germany has taken against thirty-nine British officers as a result of the special treatment accorded thirty-nine submarine prisoners in England.

The note explains the Germans are being humanely treated and protests against close confinement of the British officers. Virtually the only difference between the treatment of the German submarine prisoners, the note says, is that the former are in the naval barracks instead of in the detention camp.

The foreign office still is without information as to the names of the British officers being specially punished in Germany, the United States not yet having obtained the names from Germany.

ACHIEVE SOME SUCCESS

French Report Attacks Are Producing Results.

Paris, April 21.—The following official communication was issued:

"Fifty incendiary shells have been dropped on Rheims.

"In Champagne and the Argonne there has been artillery fighting without intervention by the infantry.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle, in the forest of Montmare, near the Flirey and Essex road, our attacks achieved some success and we made some slight progress.

"In the forest of La Pretre the enemy, after violently bombarding our position in the regions of Croix des Carmes, attempted an attack which was instantly stopped by our artillery. There was a fairly lively cannonade and some outpost fighting at the edge of the forest of Parroy."

KAISER VEXED AT ZEPPELINS

Results in Recent Raids Prove Very Displeasing.

Geneva, April 21.—German and Swiss newspapers published in towns around Lake Constance, where the Zeppelin works are situated, say that Emperor William seems displeased at the results obtained by Zeppelin airships in recent raids and has ordered much larger dirigibles constructed.

Two of the new aircraft, the newspapers assert, are to be finished each month. Count Zeppelin has arrived at Friedrichshafen to supervise the execution of the new order, the object of which, according to the newspapers, is organized raids against Paris and London.

The new Zeppelins will cost more than $600,000 each, while the bombs they will carry will be double the size of those now in use.

FRENCH AIRMEN MAKE RAID ALONG RHINE.

London, April 21.—"Two French aerial squadrons attacked railway positions along the Rhine Monday afternoon," says the Daily Telegraph Zurich correspondent, "bombarding successfully the Mullheim and Habsheim stations. The immense forage stores at Mannheim were set on fire and the buildings and contents were completely destroyed."

FLEET MAY NOT USE CANAL

Naval Men Doubt if Warships Can Find Water Deep Enough.

Washington, April 21.—It developed that naval officials by no means are certain the Atlantic fleet will be able to pass through the Panama canal in July as has been planned. Some sections of the canal are not deep enough now to permit the passage of dreadnaughts in safety and there is no assurance that the necessary dredging will be completed in time for the proposed cruise to San Francisco.

Secretary Daniels has called upon Captain Hugh Rodman, marine superintendent of the canal, for a report on the prospective conditions in July. Secretary Garrison, at Mr. Daniels' request, has called for a similar report from Governor Goethals, governor of the canal.

GREAT BRITAIN PROTESTED

Objected to Cleaning Hull of German Cruiser.

London, April 21.—That the British government had protested against some of the facilities afforded the German auxiliary cruiser Prinx Eitel Friedrich at Newport News was disclosed in a reply in the house of commons made by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, to a question asked by Commander Carlyon Bellaires, who recently was returned to parliament at a by-election.

Commander Bellaires asked whether permission to repair the cruiser "included the use of the port for cleaning her hull, thereby increasing her speed chances of escape from the British cruisers."

Sir Edward Grey said that before her internment the Eitel Friedrich had had her bottom cleaned and coated with a nonfouling composition while in dry dock in Newport News, thus considerably increasing her speed.

LOOKS TOWARD PROSPERITY

President of Rock Island Road Talks Optimistically.

Chicago, April 21.—H. U. Mudge, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, who, with Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, was named receiver of the property in the United States district court here, will depend on the excellent physical condition of the road and the prosperity which he thinks is returning to the country to rehabilitate the corporation while the court affords it protection from its creditors.

He made this statement to newspaper men. Continuing, he said:

"A receivership was the only alternative we had. Under it we will probably spend more money on the road than we did in the previous six months. We have an undue proportion of cars in bad order, a fact which assisted in bringing on the crisis. With increasing general traffic in sight we will spend more money on equipment."

WOMAN'S REALM

LODGE IS SOLELY A WOMAN'S ORDER

Ladies of the Maccabees of the World Organization has a Membership of 180,000 Women

MISS BENA M. WEST AT HEAD

Society Gives Opportunity for Development to Thousands of Women—Other Features

An organization, composed exclusively of women, which has grown to a membership of 180,000 is a body that is worth the attention of every woman. Such a society must have something vital about it to attract so many women, to hold their interest and loyalty, to join them together in united purpose.

The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World is the largest benefit society in the world composed entirely of women It is a remarkable business institution, a wonderful example of fraternalism. But it is something more; it is one of the great forces in the life of American women today.

Apart from its work as an insurance order, this society is a strong, wholesome influence for the improvement and broadening of its members,

DR. ELIZABETH HOOPER

Dr. Elizabeth Hooper is the Chairman of the Supreme Medical Board, with offices in the Maccabee Temple, Port Huron, Mich. development to tens and tens of thousands of women."

In that sentence Miss Bina M. West Supreme Commander of the order, sums up her own observation of one result of Maccabee work.

"Bringing women into contact with other women in a large way, under circumstances that make for sympathy and co-operation in big things tends to widen their outlook, to make them more democratic and more independent."

MAKING INSURANCE HISTORY

An added assurance is given those who secure protection in the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World by the fact that this organization bars the poor risks.

Its medical staff has had such experience as to detect the signs which mean danger.

Its reserves are classified and recorded with a minuteness excelled by no other insurance organization.

All claims are passed upon promptly and paid promptly, there being no necessity of waiting to collect assessments to pay claims.

The experience of this society proves that women are honest in places of trust, instances of shortages by local record-keepers being surprisingly rare, although there are almost 3,000 of these local record-keepers.

"The women in the home has a limited horizon. She has her friends, her duties, her individual activities. But she does not come into contact with the world in the way that men do. When she joins the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, she is brought into a new atmosphere of work and of helpfulness. She meets other women as men meet other men; she becomes broader in understanding without losing any of her womanliness.

"This order had its beginning before the movement for women's clubs had grown to any extent. It has a more solid foundation than the club, a definite financial work. In many communities it was the first organization of women for a common purpose aside from the religious societies. In bringing women together outside their small circles and cliques it benefits them at once and directly.

"But there are more immediate benefits than the social. The beautiful

MRS. W. F. DIECKHAUS

Mrs. W. F. Deickhaus has been a member of the organization of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World for 19 years, being one of the first members to join the hive in Brainerd, where she has resided from girlhood. Mrs. Dieckhaus has served the hive most successfully as Commander for four years. She is also well known in church work in this city.

symbolism of the ritual has its uplifting influence on women just as the rituals of the men's fraternities are an inspiration to them. The floor work, the opportunities for speaking in public, for serious discussion—all these help the individual.

"If we must work to live and to do we might as well be happy while we are doing it. That is the spirit of our order.

"The woman who becomes a member of our society gains directly by the association and this personal gain is in direct proportion to the part she takes in the work."

A Great Insurance Society

But consideration of the social benefits of The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World should not obscure the fact that the primal purpose of the order is fraternal insurance.

Organized, directed and carried on entirely by women, it has become the most successful of all benefit societies.

Based upon a solid foundation of adequate rates, and yet operated at the lowest possible expense, it has paid out millions of dollars in benefits and has acquired reserves totaling other millions.

The system employed in carrying on the work is the simplets and yet the most complete which could be devised. Efficiency experts who have examined this system have given it their praise and commendation.

Insurance actuaries accept the mortality tables of this society as the standard for figuring insurance risks upon women. This is because these tables are not only the result of the experience of the largest women's insurance organization in the world but because they have been scientifically prepared and checked.

While the order has both social and benefit members, the rule is that only those who are not physically eligible

MRS. JAMES McMANNIS

Mrs. James McMannis has served the Hive of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World in Brainerd eleven years as Record Keeper. During that time she has lost very few members by suspension. She joined the order when first organized in Brainerd, and has been a delegate to the state conventions at two different times. Commander Mrs. W. F. Dieckhaus and Record Keeper Mrs. James McMannis are popular in the hive and much of the success in the organization is due to their splendid efforts.

for the insurance features of the order shall be admitted to social membership. Those who pass the tests of the medical examination are accepted as benefit members.

That it is as desirable for women to carry benefit insurance as for men to do so is becoming more and more understood. Particularly is it desirable that this protection be secured early in life when the advantage of low rates may be secured. The assurance that dependent relatives may not suffer is one which is as comforting to the woman as to the man when the responsibilities of middle life are encountered.

How the Order Has Grown

In 1892 the organization of The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World was accomplished, there having been previous to that time some scattered organizations auxiliary to the Knights of the Maccabees of the World.

There was need for the new order and it spread rapidly. In 1904 a change was made from its old rates to those of the Fraternal Congress and since that time the growth has been even greater.

For 1914 the net gain in benefit members was 8,328.

The business affairs of the order are in charge of the Supreme Hive, with headquarters at Port Huron, and there are state organizations subordinate to this while the membership is divided into the local hives.

There are 2,886 hives in the order.

"The member is the order" is the rule by which matters are governed. Every individual member is reckoned an important part of the organization and every letter or personal request is considered, every inquiry is answered.

Throughout the United States the order has brought together women of all nationalities and all creeds. It is broad, non-sectarian, universal in its sympathies. The largest hive, Fritz Reuter Hive of Chicago, has almost a thousand members and a ritual in German; the smallest hive, in a rural community, has but a handful of members who find it nevertheless the most congenial form of association.

All field work, for the securing of new members and the formation of new hives, is under the direction of the Supreme Commander and her deputies, acting with the state officers. In this as in everything else connected with the order, efficiency has been attained.

A Visit to the Maccabees.

The spirit of the society is sensed by anyone who visits the handsome World's Maccabee Temple in Port Huron. There is an earnest enthusiasm in the work, a happiness in the doing of routine matters well and in striving to attain better results that is inspiring.

Eighty women are employed in the Temple; one hundred others are engaged in field work. But the spirit is the same throughout.

Miss Bina M. West, the Supreme Commander, has been connected actively with the order since its start. She took charge of the field work of organization and was made Supreme Record Keeper when the Supreme Hive was organized. This position she held until the death of Mrs. Lillian M. Hollister, the well-beloved head of the order, some years ago. The enthusiasm and energy of Miss West have permeated the whole working force of the order.

Miss Frances D. Partridge, who succeeded Miss West as Supreme Record Keeper, is exceptionally well qualified by experience and by study. She has made a profession of actuarial work and is recognized as an authority on life insurance throughout the country. Dr. Elizabeth M. Hooper, Supreme Medical Examiner, is likewise a specialist in life insurance matters.

It is so with every department head. Each woman in charge of any part of the work has been chosen because of her peculiar fitness and liking for that particular line. Each department unites its efforts with those of every other department and every clerk seems to feel the same desire to excel in effectiveness.

All applications for membership come to the World's Maccabee Temple to be passed on. The medical examiner's department has strict standards and these are rigidly upheld. All certificates are issued by the certificate department and all financial matters are checked by the auditing department. A separate record is kept of each member from the time she enters the order. Card filing systems lessen the work and compel accuracy. Interdepartmental reports serve the checking-up purposes.

Investing Vast Funds.

To anyone familiar with financial matters, a glance at the list of securities held by this society is instant notice of the excellence of its management.

Safety is the first requisite in making investments of a fiduciary nature and this is the one essential insisted on by Miss West and her colleagues of the committee which selects the bonds to be bought. Next to that, a good rate of interest is desirable and it is doubtful if any similar organization has as high an average interest return as this.

As a result of this policy, the interest earnings last year were equal to one-third of the death-claims.

All bonds are kept in the vaults of a Port Huron bank. Viewing them, one gets an idea of the financial stability of this society. Gilt-edged securities, all of them, they represent a fortune that brings in a lesser fortune every year in interest.

Beside the benefit fund of the order, there is another fund for hospital endowment. In Detroit the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World have free hospital service for their members at Grace hospital. This was installed as a memorial to the late Mrs. Lillian M. Hollister who was a resident of Detroit. In Chicago there is also a hospital endowment.

It is the aim of the order to increase the hospital endowment feature until every state has it.

This hospital relief work is important but it has been demonstrated often in the event of catastrophes that the order had wider powers of relief. For instance, at the time of the great floods in Ohio, when Dayton and other cities were inundated, the order busied itself in bringing aid and comfort not only to its own members but to many others. Money was raised and relief measures put into effect quickly and effectively. Other disasters have brought out results as good. No member of the order who was involved in the flood disasters was allowed to lapse in her membership through the sudden misfortune.

In charitable work the order takes a prominent part all over the country. Everything that comes under the head of "neighborliness," every kindness which can be imagined from women to other women, has had its inception in the spirit of this great benefit organization.

No Insult.

WOMAN'S REALM

LODGE IS SOLELY A WOMAN'S ORDER

Ladies of the Maccabees of the World Organization has a Membership of 180,000 Women

MISS BENA M. WEST AT HEAD

Society Gives Opportunity for Development to Thousands of Women—Other Features

An organization, composed exclusively of women, which has grown to a membership of 180,000 is a body that is worth the attention of every woman. Such a society must have something vital about it to attract so many women, to hold their interest and loyalty, to join them together in united purpose.

The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World is the largest benefit society in the world composed entirely of women It is a remarkable business institution, a wonderful example of fraternalism. But it is something more; it is one of the great forces in the life of American women today.

Apart from its work as an insurance order, this society is a strong, wholesome influence for the improvement and broadening of its members,

DR. ELIZABETH HOOPER

Dr. Elizabeth Hooper is the Chairman of the Supreme Medical Board, with offices in the Maccabee Temple, Port Huron, Mich. Prior to her appointment as Supreme Medical Examiner, she was the Great Medical Examiner for the Great Hive for New York. Dr. Hooper is one of the most popular officers in the jurisdiction.

It has grown because of what it is as well as because of what it does.

To Michigan people it must be a source of pride that this institution, one of the noblest examples of the efficiency of women in co-operative work, has its headquarters in that state, that it centers its activities there and from that point extends its helpful and beneficial influence into every part of the country.

Why should the woman who has home and friends, and all that those two words mean, join this society? What is her gain? What need does it fill in her life?

These are the questions which the women who have made The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World the great success that it is are answering every day in all parts of the United States. They are not answering with words only but with the proof of deeds, of accomplishment.

The Influence on the Individual Woman.

"Our society has been the means of giving the opportunity for broader development to tens and tens of thousands of women."

Minnesota Legislature Passes Universal Gun License Bill and Kills Chiropractic Measure

(By United Press)

St. Paul, April 21—The senate pasesd the universal gun law license bill, requiring all hunters in Minnesota to pay a license of $1.00 to carry a gun whether in their own county or not.

Refused to pass the bill legalizing public meetings in school houses.

Passed Dimock's bill providing for a state law operating on the same principle as the Harrison federal drug act.

The senate finance committee succeeded in having the house conferees withdraw the appropriations by the house adding a million and ninety thousand dollars to the general appropriation for education. This promises to break the deadlock on the omnibus bill and it will give the Bemidji normal school appropriation a chance for passage.

The bill legalizing the practice of Chiropractics in Minnesota was killed this morning. Three hundred Chiropractic doctors in Minnesota are affected and this is the fourth legislature that put to death and buried a similar measure.

ARMY AND NAVY READY FOR WAR

(By United Press)

Rome, April 21—The Italian government is entirely responsible for the entrance of Italy into the war now. The army and navy is ready to strike at a moments notice if war is declared and the navy is in readiness to protect the Italian coast cities. The excitement is intense as war is believed to be inevitable now, although Prince Von Bellow is leaving nothing undone to influence Italy, believing that Austria will make consessions and avoid war. However Austria is massing troops along the Italian border. Aviators nearing Italian soil report Rome quiet, and the people evidently reconciled to war. CABINET TOO BIG; FIVE MEN ENOUGH

President Has Too Many Advisers, Says Sutherland.

MORE YET ARE DEMANDED.

Little Chance to Abolish Any of the Positions, However, and Still Others May Be Established—Various Interests Want a "Head Who Can Sit at the President's Council Table."

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 21.—[Special.]—Various interests are demanding additional cabinet officers with a head "who can sit at the president's council table," to use their favorite expression.

Thus we hear demands for a department of health, a department of mines, a department of colonies, and if these were created there would still be demands for other departments.

What is needed are fewer departments or some of those already created should be demoted and the importance of a few increased. That view was intelligently expressed by Senator Sutherland of Utah, who is one of the best lawyers in the senate, when he said that a cabinet as large as that now provided was more like a town meeting than a council to give advice to the president.

Five Big Places.

Senator Sutherland would have five big cabinet places. The secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general, the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy should constitute the five places, filled by men of the highest intellect and paid good salaries so as to tempt the best men.

"These are the only departments that really need consult the president save on very rare occasions," said Senator Sutherland. "There is scarcely ever any need for the postmaster general, the secretary of the interior, the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce or the secretary of labor to consult the president. And yet he has these additional advisers on matters which are almost wholly in the province of other cabinet officers who have charge of matters particularly affecting the nation and our foreign relations.

"The first five ought to be the president's cabinet; the other five should be men capable of conducting the other departments and of such capacity that there would be no necessity of consulting the president except on very special occasions."

Matter of Law.

The suggestions of the Utah senator could be put in force by law, as all cabinet places are created by acts of congress. But I am thinking that whoever undertook to pass such a law would find himself beset on every side by opposition, particularly by those who want more cabinet places.

The name of a cabinet officer is something like a sop to certain interests. We were getting along well under a commissioner of agriculture, but there was a clamor that a man who represented agriculture must "have a seat at the president's council board," and so it was made a department. Then came the demand for a department of commerce, and certainly a big bureau of commerce might have been advisable, but when it was created the words "and labor" were added, and as a sop to the workingmen we had a "department of commerce and labor," a long and unnecessary title. But labor was not satisfied, and so the workingmen had to have a real department of their own, with a "head who could sit at the council table of the president." And in all probability there will be more such places created in the future.

Know the Game.

The wives of quite a number of would be presidents are doing all they can to make themselves popular and insure the success of their husbands. The wives have a great stake in the presidential contest, as it is a great thing to be the "first lady of the land," which is the title of the mistress of the White House.

Stands by Whitman.

Addison Johnson of New York told a Washington newspaper man that Whitman would have the delegation from that state next year and further that Whitman would carry New York by 300,000 if nominated. And that is a pretty good majority even in New York, where majorities are sometimes unusually large.

Want Republicans' Places.

A considerable amount of the Democratic growling and complaint which are heard is due to the fact that after two years of Democratic control there are still hundreds of good places in Washington filled by Republicans. Most of these positions are not in the classified service and protected by civil service regulations, but are positions under control of the president or members of his cabinet. Many such places pay as high as $5,000 a year, and those salaries look good to Democrats who have not had a look-in for sixteen years. They do not believe that any of these Republican officeholders are indispensable. In fact, they are quite sure that there is no place in the government that cannot be filled by a deserving Democrat.

Aim to Isolate Germany.

London, April 21.—Replying to questions in the house of commons as to what steps were being taken to prevent cotton from reaching Germany Foreign Secretary Grey said that, in accordance with the order in council of March 11, every effort was being made to keep seaborne commodities of all kinds from going to that country.

Perhaps He Would.

"I led my class in Greek three successive years."

"That's fine. But wouldn't you much rather have carried the ball sixty-five yards for a touchdown just once?"—Exchange.

Minnesota Legislature Passes Universal Gun License Bill and Kills Chiropractic Measure

(By United Press)

St. Paul, April 21—The senate pasesd the universal gun law license bill, requiring all hunters in Minnesota to pay a license of $1.00 to carry a gun whether in their own county or not.

Refused to pass the bill legalizing public meetings in school houses.

Passed Dimock's bill providing for a state law operating on the same principle as the Harrison federal drug act.

The senate finance committee succeeded in having the house conferees withdraw the appropriations by the house adding a million and ninety thousand dollars to the general appropriation for education. This promises to break the deadlock on the omnibus bill and it will give the Bemidji normal school appropriation a chance for passage.

The bill legalizing the practice of Chiropractics in Minnesota was killed this morning. Three hundred Chiropractic doctors in Minnesota are affected and this is the fourth legislature that put to death and buried a similar measure.

THE JOINT RECITAL

Otto Meyer and Marie Ten Broeck, Violinist and Pianist, Played Pleasing Program

The concert given at Elks hall last Friday night by Otto Meyer and Marie Ten Broeck was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The charming personalities of these two artists, together with their splendid playing, made it an evening long to be remembered by the audience.

A pupil of several European masters, including Sevcik and Eugen Ysaye, Mr. Meyer has not confined himself to any one school, but has acquired the best to be found in all the greatest schools, and his work Friday evening certainly showed the results of this broad and varied training. Thorough technique, musical understanding, intensity of feeling, breadth of tone—all were exemplified in the program he presented here.

In a program of such uniform excellence it is difficult to single out individual numbers for special mention, but the haunting sweetness of Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the stately grace of the "Minuett" of Beethoven and that of Mozart seemed to appeal especially. Fibich's "Poem" was exquisite in its tonal beauty and the "Ronde de Lutins" by Bazzini was wonderfully brilliant, and showed great technical ability. The Paganini number made a splendid climax to a varied and interesting program. As encores Mr. Meyer played the more familiar selections, including the "Humoresque" by Dvorak.

Of Marie Ten Broek's work at the piano, much might be written. Her accompaniments made a perfect background for Mr. Meyer, and her solo numbers were delightful. Her phrasing is excellent, her tones full and round, and her execution clean cut and clear.

Though the concert was given under the auspices of the Musical club, the credit belongs to Prof. Christian Jensen, who brought these artists to Brainerd entirely on his own responsibility. Prof. Jensen is a pupil of Otto Meyer, and desired to give Brainerd people an opportunity to hear this great artist. The size of the audience, however, was not such as to encourage him to engage in any further ventures of the sort. Mr. Meyer spoke very highly of Mr. Jensen both as a pupil and as a teacher. Three of Mr. Jensen's pupils begin study with Mr. Meyer in the near future.

REPORT OF THE STATE COMMANDER

Mrs. Jessie K. Fager Says State Record of the Ladies of the Maccabees of World

IS RECORD TO BE PROUD OF

Membership Record for Eighth Term —Banner Awards—The Deputy Force—Appreciation

Mrs. Jessie K. Fager, State Commander of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, in her address at the convention, said in part:

"It seems fitting on this occasion to go back into my own connection with the work of the Order in this splendid state.

In March, 1913, I came, with considerable misgiving, to stay for a comparatively short time to assist in the work here. I wish I could make you understand the overwhelming desire I had to do anything and everything that would promote the growth of the hives and win the respect of the membership. My first year was a hard one. Perhaps as much so for you as for me; for, while I was learning to know you, you, too, were in the same position. But the season of probation is over and gone, and each month and year has brought us in closer touch, one with the other. Your interests and mine in regard to our mutual work for the organization in this state are one, and right proud we are of what has been accomplished While we are not yet a pennant winner I know if we keep ever the thought of doing our very best work each day, each week, and each year, we will reach the goal for which we are striving, and no leader in any state will be prouder than your leader in Minnesota.

I want to express my sincere thanks to every member who has assisted me during the short time I have been here, and to renew my promise of assistance at all times in our united effort for promotion and increased membership.

Many hive visits for the year 1913 were more for the purpose of learning the needs of the membership than for the purpose of instruction, and notwithstanding the adverse conditions and several months out of the field during this time, we finished the year with a net increase in membership. The year 1914, with changed conditions generally, was a year of gain in every way. Our record is one of which I am proud. The hives have assisted me in a splendid manner, and our showing for 1915 promises to be as good as before, if not better.

Membership Record for Eighth Term

The following statistics show the condition of the Order in Minnesota:

	Membership No. Hives	Social	Benefit	Total
Hives and membership January 1, 1911	82	563	2985	3548
Hives and membership January 1, 1915	75	418	3464	3882
Hives organized since Jan. 1, 1911				12
Applications received during term				1588
Certificates issued during term				1397
Protection written during term				$1,214,250.00
Benefits paid since organization				$ 223,833.75

The record of net gain for Eighth term:

1911	162
1912	58
1913	70
1914	255
Total	479

Minnesota's net gain for the last year of the term exceeded that of the three previous years—and the state closed the year, second in point of net gain in Class III. The net gain for the term was 479, which compared with a net loss of 201, during the Seventh Term, is evidence that the splendid efforts of a loyal and interested membership will reap the reward they merit.

Rallies have been held during the term with encouraging results, not only in membership gain, but in renewed interest and activity among the hives.

The Deputy Force

During my work in this state, I have had the most splendid assistance from my force of deputies and the special hive workers, many of whom have added members nearly every month since their appointments.

We have not organized many new hives, but we have strengthened many weak ones.

I want especially to thank the following for their co-operation:

Mrs. Anna DeMars for her able assistance, not only in securing new members and for her instruction in the ritualistic work of the order, but for the intense loyalty which she has shown at all times.

Mrs. Agnes Finlayson, who has organized at several points and built up the northwestern part of the state.

Mrs. Minnie M. Bretz, with one new hive to her credit and another on the way for organization and splendid classes at numerous points in her territory.

Mrs. Stella Reinhardt, a new-comer among us, but a woman with a keen knowledge of soliciting. Mrs. Reinhardt has done and is doing good work in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Frances Austin, who had charge of the work in the Twin Cities, giving is up because of ill health, rendered much valuable assistance during my first year in the state.

Many hives owe much to the untiring efforts of their commanders and record keepers. I cannot give the names of the many whose united efforts have resulted in such a splendid growth during the past term.

Appreciation

I want to assure our beloved leader, Miss Bina M. West, whose clear vision has made many things possible for us as an order, that always and for all time we pledge our loyalty, assistance, and love.

The work of Miss Frances D. Partridge, Supreme Record Keeper and Dr. Elizabeth Hooper, Supreme Medical Examiner, has been appreciated by each and every member in the state of Minnesota. Their promptness and courtesy have won them many friends.

THE JOINT RECITAL

Otto Meyer and Marie Ten Broeck, Violinist and Pianist, Played Pleasing Program

The concert given at Elks hall last Friday night by Otto Meyer and Marie Ten Broeck was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The charming personalities of these two artists, together with their splendid playing, made it an evening long to be remembered by the audience.

A pupil of several European masters, including Sevcik and Eugen Ysaye, Mr. Meyer has not confined himself to any one school, but has acquired the best to be found in all the greatest schools, and his work Friday evening certainly showed the results of this broad and varied training. Thorough technique, musical understanding, intensity of feeling, breadth of tone—all were exemplified in the program he presented here.

In a program of such uniform excellence it is difficult to single out individual numbers for special mention, but the haunting sweetness of Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the stately grace of the "Minuett" of Beethoven and that of Mozart seemed to appeal especially. Fibich's "Poem" was exquisite in its tonal beauty and the "Ronde de Lutins" by Bazzini was wonderfully brilliant, and showed great technical ability. The Paganini number made a splendid climax to a varied and interesting program. As encores Mr. Meyer played the more familiar selections, including the "Humoresque" by Dvorak.

Of Marie Ten Broek's work at the piano, much might be written. Her accompaniments made a perfect background for Mr. Meyer, and her solo numbers were delightful. Her phrasing is excellent, her tones full and round, and her execution clean cut and clear.

Though the concert was given under the auspices of the Musical club, the credit belongs to Prof. Christian Jensen, who brought these artists to Brainerd entirely on his own responsibility. Prof. Jensen is a pupil of Otto Meyer, and desired to give Brainerd people an opportunity to hear this great artist. The size of the audience, however, was not such as to encourage him to engage in any further ventures of the sort. Mr. Meyer spoke very highly of Mr. Jensen both as a pupil and as a teacher. Three of Mr. Jensen's pupils begin study with Mr. Meyer in the near future.

REPORT OF THE STATE COMMANDER

Mrs. Jessie K. Fager Says State Record of the Ladies of the Maccabees of World

IS RECORD TO BE PROUD OF

Membership Record for Eighth Term —Banner Awards—The Deputy Force—Appreciation

Mrs. Jessie K. Fager, State Commander of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, in her address at the convention, said in part:

"It seems fitting on this occasion to go back into my own connection with the work of the Order in this splendid state.

In March, 1913, I came, with considerable misgiving, to stay for a comparatively short time to assist in the work here. I wish I could make you understand the overwhelming desire I had to do anything and everything that would promote the growth of the hives and win the respect of the membership. My first year was a hard one. Perhaps as much so for you as for me; for, while I was learning to know you, you, too, were in the same position. But the season of probation is over and gone, and each month and year has brought us in closer touch, one with the other. Your interests and mine in regard to our mutual work for the organization in this state are one, and right proud we are of what has been accomplished While we are not yet a pennant winner I know if we keep ever the thought of doing our very best work each day, each week, and each year, we will reach the goal for which we are striving, and no leader in any state will be prouder than your leader in Minnesota.

I want to express my sincere thanks to every member who has assisted me during the short time I have been here, and to renew my promise of assistance at all times in our united effort for promotion and increased membership.

Many hive visits for the year 1913 were more for the purpose of learning the needs of the membership than for the purpose of instruction, and notwithstanding the adverse conditions and several months out of the field during this time, we finished the year with a net increase in membership. The year 1914, with changed conditions generally, was a year of gain in every way. Our record is one of which I am proud. The hives have assisted me in a splendid manner, and our showing for 1915 promises to be as good as before, if not better.

Membership Record for Eighth Term

The following statistics show the condition of the Order in Minnesota:

	No. Hives	Membership Social Benefit	Total
Hives and membership January 1, 1911	82	563 2985	3548
Hives and membership January 1, 1915	75	418 3464	3882
Hives organized since Jan. 1, 1911			12
Applications received during term			1588
Certificates issued during term			1397
Protection written during term			$1,214,250.00
Benefits paid since organization			$ 223,833.75

The record of net gain for Eighth term:

1911	162
1912	18
1913	70
1914	255
Total	479

Minnesota's net gain for the last year of the term exceeded that of the three previous years—and the state closed the year, second in point of net gain in Class III. The net gain for the term was 479, which compared with a net loss of 201, during the Seventh Term, is evidence that the splendid efforts of a loyal and interested membership will reap the reward they merit.

The BLACK BOX

"A little invention of my own for measuring footprints," Quest explained. "Not much use here, I am afraid."

Quest stood over the box for a moment or two and looked once more out of the window. Presently Lenora returned. She carried in her hand a small object, which she brought silently to Quest. He glanced at it in perplexity. The professor peered over his shoulder.

"It is the little finger!" he cried—"the little finger of my ape!"

Quest held it away from him critically.

"From which hand?" he asked.

"The right hand."

Quest examined the fastenings of the window before which he paused during his previous examination. He turned away with a shrug of the shoulders.

"See you later, Mr. Ashleigh," he concluded laconically.

A newsboy thrust a paper at them. Quest glanced at the headlines. Lenora clutched at his arm. Together they read it in great black type:

ESCAPE OF CONVICTED PRISONER!

Macdougal, on His Way to Prison, Grapples With Sheriff and Jumps From Train! Still at Large, Though Searched For by Posse of Police.

CHAPTER VII.

The windows of Mrs. Rheinholdt's town house were ablaze with light. A crimson drugget stretched down the steps to the curbstone. A long row of automobiles stood waiting. Through the wide-flung door was visible a pleasant impression of flowers and light and luxury. In the nearer of the two large reception rooms Mrs. Rheinholdt herself, a woman dark, handsome and in the prime of life, was standing to receive her guests. By her side was her son, whose twenty-first birthday was being celebrated.

"I wonder whether that professor of yours will come?" she remarked, as the stream of incoming guests slackened for a moment.

"He hates receptions," the boy replied, "but he promised he'd come. I never thought, when he used to drill science into us at the lectures, that he was going to be a tremendous big pot."

Mrs. Rheinholdt's plump finger toyed for a moment complacently with the diamonds which hung from her neck.

"You can never tell in a world like this," she murmured.

"Here he is, mother!" the young man exclaimed suddenly. "Good old boy! I thought he'd keep his word."

Mrs. Rheinholdt assumed her most encouraging and condescending smile as she held out both hands to the professor.

"It is perfectly sweet of you, professor," Mrs. Rheinholdt declared.

Mrs. Rheinholdt breathed a sigh of relief as she greeted her new arrivals.

The professor made himself universally agreeable in a mild way, and his presence created even more than the sensation which Mrs. Rheinholdt had hoped for. In her desire to show him ample honor she seldom left his side.

"I am going to take you into my husband's study," she suggested, later on in the evening. "He has some specimens of beetles—"

"Beetles," the professor declared, with some excitement, "occupied precisely two months of my time while abroad. By all means, Mrs. Rheinholdt!"

"We shall have to go quite to the back of the house," she explained, as she led him along the darkened passages.

The professor smiled acquiescently. His eyes rested for a moment upon her necklace.

"You must really permit me, Mrs. Rheinholdt," he exclaimed, "to admire your wonderful stones. I am a judge of diamonds, and those three or four in the center are, I should judge, unique."

She held them out to him. The professor laid the end of the necklace gently in the palm of his hand and examined them through a horn-rimmed eyeglass.

"They are wonderful," he murmured "wonderful! Why—"

He turned away a little abruptly. They had reached the back of the house and a door from outside had just been opened. A man had crossed the threshold with a coat over his arm and was standing now looking at them.

"How extraordinary!" the professor remarked. "Is that you, Craig?"

"Yes, sir," he replied. "There is a rainstorm, so I ventured to bring your mackintosh."

"Very thoughtful," the professor murmured approvingly. "I have a weakness," he went on, turning to his hostess, "for always walking home after an evening like this. In the daytime I am content to ride. At night I have the fancy always to walk."

"We don't walk half enough," Mrs. Rheinholdt sighed, glancing down at her somewhat portly figure. "Dixon," she added, turning to the footman who had admitted Craig, "take Professor Ashleigh's servant into the kitchen and see that he has something before he leaves for home. Now, professor, if you will come this way."

They reached a little room in the far corner of the house. Mrs. Rheinholdt apologized as she switched on the electric lights.

"It is a queer little place to bring you to," she said, "but my husband used to spend many hours here, and he would never allow anything to be moved. You see, the specimens are in these cases."

The professor nodded. His general attitude toward the forthcoming exhibition was merely one of politeness. As the first case opened, however, his manner completely changed. Without taking the slightest further notice of his hostess, he adjusted a pair of horn rimmed spectacles and commenced to mumble eagerly to himself. Mrs. Rheinholdt, who did not understand a word, strolled around the apartment, yawned and finally interrupted a little stream of eulogies, not a word of which she understood, concerning a green beetle with yellow spots.

"I am so glad you are interested, professor," she said. "If you don't mind, I will rejoin my guests. You will find a shorter way back if you keep along the passage straight ahead and come through the conservatory."

TRIES TO PROVE HIS CONTENTION

Colonel Roosevelt Testifies in $50,000 Libel Suit.

FREELY QUOTES MR. BARNES

Former President Seeks to Justify the Publication of the Statement Upon Which the Action Is Based—Talks With Counsel for Both Sides and Discusses Several Points With Trial Judge.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 21.—Theodore Roosevelt went upon the witness stand in the supreme court here and testified in an effort to prove his contention that he was justified in causing the publication of the statement upon which William Barnes sued him to recover $50,000 for alleged libel.

Under oath he said the former chairman of the Republican state committee had urged him not to antagonize men of large business, who contributed to both the Democratic and Republican parties so that they would be protected.

Mr. Barnes told him, Colonel Roosevelt swore, that it was essential to protect big business interests, because unless they were protected they would not make contributions to the party failing to protect them and that without such contributions it was impossible to carry on the organization. Without organization leaders and bosses, the former president quoted Mr. Barnes as saying, party government would be impossible.

Colonel Roosevelt also quoted Mr. Barnes as telling him that "the people are not fit to govern themselves. They have got to be governed by the party organization and you cannot run an organization, you cannot have leaders, unless you have money."

Colonel Roosevelt sketched his political career and with considerable pride discussed the regiment of Rough Riders he organized for service in the Spanish war. He told where the recruits came from, where they gathered, where they went and just what they did. He even described the first brush with the Spanish forces and would have related orders he had given the men under him had not counsel for the plaintiff objected.

Relations With Senator Platt.

Then he gave detailed testimony about his relations with the late Senator Thomas C. Platt, with Mr. Barnes and conversations he had with both these men on various occasions.

Colonel Roosevelt talked ot the counsel for both sides, offered suggestions and entered into a discussion of more than one point with Justice William S. Andrews, presiding, whom he addressed as "Judge." He was entirely at his ease in the witness chair. He stretched his arms over the back of his chair, crossed first one leg and then the other and adjusted and readjusted his glasses from time to time.

He cut all his words off shortly, except when he mentioned the name of Mr. Barnes. He drew out the name of his opponent and put a peculiar pronounciation upon the last syllable. Spectators said that every time he mentioned the name of Mr. Barnes they were reminded of the noise made by a pebble dropping into a pool of still water.

Mr. Barnes himself appeared to be be much interested in the first part of Colonel Roosevelt's testimony. As it progressed, however, the plaintiff in the action seemed to lose interest and he first retired from a seat close to the witness stand to one farther away and then he left the room.

Mr. Barnes' attorneys had rested before Colonel Roosevelt was called to the stand. They completed presentation of their case in twenty minutes and called as their single witness the defendant's own private secretary.

A TREACHEROUS TROUBLE

Brainerd People Are Shown the Way Out

Kidney diseases are very dangerous. They come on silently, gain ground rapidly, and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by proper treatment in the beginning. Nature give early warnings of kidney disease—backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches and urinary disorders. If these symptoms are unheeded, there is grave danger of dropsy or possible Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned a reputation for their effectiveness in kidney troubles, and are known and recommended the world over. Brainerd readers should find convincing proof in the following statement. It's from a citizen of this locality.

Peter Abear, Main St., Brainerd, says: "I was in bad shape with kidney and bladder complaint. It hurt me to bend over. The pains in my sides and hips were hard to endure and when I caught cold, the trouble was worse. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief. Since then I have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at H. P. CREAM OF BARLEY is not a heavy food—nor is it a light food, lacking in proper nourishment. It is a substantial food—a satisfying food, meeting the requirements of every stomach—every system—every age.

Cream of Barley

is not a medicine, but it supplies the correct nourishment—replenishes the depleted nerve force—repairs the wasted tissues—enriches the blood and makes bone and muscle.

After eating CREAM OF BARLEY for breakfast you feel strengthened and ready for your daily task.

CREAM OF BARLEY does not overtax the digestive organs—does not excite them to vigorous activity and then fail to supply the proper nourishment.

The BLACK BOX

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of "Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo," "The Vanished Messenger," "The Lighted Way," etc.

Novelized from the motion picture drama of the same name produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company. Illustrated with photographs from the motion picture production

(Copyright, 1915, by Otis F. Wood.)

"A little invention of my own for measuring footprints," Quest explained. "Not much use here, I am afraid."

Quest stood over the box for a moment or two and looked once more out of the window. Presently Lenora returned. She carried in her hand a small object, which she brought silently to Quest. He glanced at it in perplexity. The professor peered over his shoulder.

"It is the little finger!" he cried—"the little finger of my ape!"

Quest held it away from him critically.

"From which hand?" he asked.

"The right hand."

Quest examined the fastenings of the window before which he paused during his previous examination. He turned away with a shrug of the shoulders.

"See you later, Mr. Ashleigh," he concluded laconically.

A newsboy thrust a paper at them. Quest glanced at the headlines. Lenora clutched at his arm. Together they read it in great black type:

ESCAPE OF CONVICTED PRISONER!

Macdougal, on His Way to Prison, Grapples With Sheriff and Jumps From Train! Still at Large, Though Searched For by Posse of Police.

CHAPTER VII.

The windows of Mrs. Rheinholdt's town house were ablaze with light. A crimson drugget stretched down the steps to the curbstone. A long row of automobiles stood waiting. Through the wide-flung door was visible a pleasant impression of flowers and light and luxury. In the nearer of the two large reception rooms Mrs. Rheinholdt herself, a woman dark, handsome and in the prime of life, was standing to receive her guests. By her side was her son, whose twenty-first birthday was being celebrated.

"I wonder whether that professor of yours will come?" she remarked, as the stream of incoming guests slackened for a moment.

"He hates receptions," the boy replied, "but he promised he'd come. I never thought, when he used to drill science into us at the lectures, that he was going to be a tremendous big pot."

Mrs. Rheinholdt's plump finger toyed for a moment complacently with the diamonds which hung from her neck.

"You can never tell in a world like this," she murmured.

"Here he is, mother!" the young man exclaimed suddenly. "Good old boy! I thought he'd keep his word."

Mrs. Rheinholdt assumed her most encouraging and condescending smile as she held out both hands to the professor.

"It is perfectly sweet of you, professor," Mrs. Rheinholdt declared.

Mrs. Rheinholdt breathed a sigh of relief as she greeted her new arrivals.

The professor made himself universally agreeable in a mild way, and his presence created even more than the sensation which Mrs. Rheinholdt had hoped for. In her desire to show him ample honor she seldom left his side.

"I am going to take you into my husband's study," she suggested, later on in the evening. "He has some specimens of beetles—"

"Beetles," the professor declared, with some excitement, "occupied precisely two months of my time while abroad. By all means, Mrs. Rheinholdt!"

"We shall have to go quite to the back of the house," she explained, as she led him along the darkened passages.

The professor smiled acquiescently. His eyes rested for a moment upon her necklace.

"You must really permit me, Mrs. Rheinholdt," he exclaimed, "to admire your wonderful stones. I am a judge of diamonds, and those three or four in the center are, I should judge, unique."

She held them out to him. The professor laid the end of the necklace gently in the palm of his hand and examined them through a horn-rimmed eyeglass.

"They are wonderful," he murmured "wonderful! Why—"

He turned away a little abruptly. They had reached the back of the house and a door from outside had just been opened. A man had crossed the threshold with a coat over his arm and was standing now looking at them.

"How extraordinary!" the professor remarked. "Is that you, Craig?"

"Yes, sir," he replied. "There is a rainstorm, so I ventured to bring your mackintosh."

"Very thoughtful," the professor murmured approvingly. "I have a weakness," he went on, turning to his hostess, "for always walking home after an evening like this. In the daytime I am content to ride. At night I have the fancy always to walk."

"We don't walk half enough," Mrs. Rheinholdt sighed, glancing down at her somewhat portly figure. "Dixon," she added, turning to the footman who had admitted Craig, "take Professor Ashleigh's servant into the kitchen and see that he has something before he leaves for home. Now, professor, if you will come this way."

They reached a little room in the far corner of the house. Mrs. Rheinholdt apologized as she switched on the electric lights.

"It is a queer little place to bring you to," she said, "but my husband used to spend many hours here, and he would never allow anything to be moved. You see, the specimens are in these cases."

The professor nodded. His general attitude toward the forthcoming exhibition was merely one of politeness. As the first case opened, however, his manner completely changed. Without taking the slightest further notice of his hostess, he adjusted a pair of horn rimmed spectacles and commenced to mumble eagerly to himself. Mrs. Rheinholdt, who did not understand a word, strolled around the apartment, yawned and finally interrupted a little stream of eulogies, not a word of which she understood, concerning a green beetle with yellow spots.

"I am so glad you are interested, professor," she said. "If you don't mind, I will rejoin my guests. You will find a shorter way back if you keep along the passage straight ahead and come through the conservatory."

TRIES TO PROVE HIS CONTENTION

Colonel Roosevelt Tastifies in $50,000 Libel Suit.

FREELY QUOTES MR. BARNES

Former President Seeks to Justify the Publication of the Statement Upon Which the Action Is Based—Talks With Counsel for Both Sides and Discusses Several Points With Trial Judge.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 21.—Theodore Roosevelt went upon the witness stand in the supreme court here and testified in an effort to prove his contention that he was justified in causing the publication of the statement upon which William Barnes sued him to recover $50,000 for alleged libel.

Under oath he said the former chairman of the Republican state committee had urged him not to antagonize men of large business, who contributed to both the Democratic and Republican parties so that they would be protected.

Mr. Barnes told him, Colonel Roosevelt swore, that it was essential to protect big business interests, because unless they were protected they would not make contributions to the party failing to protect them and that without such contributions it was impossible to carry on the organization. Without organization leaders and bosses, the former president quoted Mr. Barnes as saying, party government would be impossible.

Colonel Roosevelt also quoted Mr. Barnes as telling him that "the people are not fit to govern themselves. They have got to be governed by the party organization and you cannot run an organization, you cannot have leaders, unless you have money."

Colonel Roosevelt sketched his political career and with considerable pride discussed the regiment of Rough Riders he organized for service in the Spanish war. He told where the recruits came from, where they gathered, where they went and just what they did. He even described the first brush with the Spanish forces and would have related orders he had given the men under him had not counsel for the plaintiff objected.

Relations With Senator Platt.

Then he gave detailed testimony about his relations with the late Senator Thomas C. Platt, with Mr. Barnes and conversations he had with both these men on various occasions.

Colonel Roosevelt talked ot the counsel for both sides, offered suggestions and entered into a discussion of more than one point with Justice William S. Andrews, presiding, whom he addressed as "Judge." He was entirely at his ease in the witness chair. He stretched his arms over the back of his chair, crossed first one leg and then the other and adjusted and readjusted his glasses from time to time.

He cut all his words off shortly, except when he mentioned the name of Mr. Barnes. He drew out the name of his opponent and put a peculiar pronounciation upon the last syllable. Spectators said that every time he mentioned the name of Mr. Barnes they were reminded of the noise made by a pebble dropping into a pool of still water.

Mr. Barnes' attorneys had rested before Colonel Roosevelt was called to the stand. They completed presentation of their case in twenty minutes and called as their single witness the defendant's own private secretary.
